Display Ideas
Put all your ideas on sticky notes and put them up on a wall or whiteboard.

Vote
Determine whether you want each member to have just one vote, or multiple. Give each member of your group a few small stickers to vote with and have them attach the stickers to the ideas that they want to vote for. Record votes for the highest voted ideas.

Dot voting is a way to help force your team to make a decision. It is more qualitative than a Decision Matrix, but will help your team make decisions and select an idea to pursue.

Tips
If it is close, feel free to prototype more than one idea.

Use this as a launching point for a discussion, don't simply make your decision based on which is voted first.

Include items that received no votes in the discussion, ensure they weren't left behind without purpose.
